Ice skaters with the Figure Skating Club of Memphis (FSCM) have been awaiting the 2007-2008 skating season.

Several skaters attended skating clinics to prepare, while others continued to travel to the various rinks for private lessons and valuable ice time.

The club will kick off its 2007-2008 skating season from 5 to 7 p.m. today at DeSoto Civic Center. Following this first session, ice time will be available twice weekly throughout the season to next March.

Ice time includes freestyle sessions, private lessons, and basic skills classes. Additionally, several public Learn to Skate sessions are currently being planned with dates to follow. In order to skate during the sessions, skaters must either be enrolled in the classes or be members of the Figure Skating Club of Memphis.

Those interested in club membership or basic skills classes can visit the new website at fscmemphis.org. Information about the club, ice time, class schedules, and fees is available on the site. Furthermore, registration is offered through the website. In addition to classes and public skating sessions, the FSCM will present a show in December with skaters displaying skills; from the beginner to the more advanced skater.
